Our Preschool's Pending Assessment and Rating.

Dear Families

Attached is the National Quality Framework Reflection tool for your interest. The Reflection tool has been designed for early childhood services as a guide to prepare for meeting the requirements of the National Quality Standard. The reflection tool highlights some important considerations in each of the seven Quality Areas. The overall purpose is for the checklist to be used to prompt and engage educators, management committee and families in the self-assessment process. Reflection questions have been included in the reflection tool for us all to think critically about our practices and to be involved in continuous improvement. It is important to remember that no two services are identical, and every service will have different requirements and needs, therefore the reflection tool is to be a guide only.

Please feel very welcome to comment on any aspect of the reflection tool. If you have any questions, please do not hesitate to ask Alison. We have also attached the National Quality Standards for your interest.
